DESCRIPTION OF CHANGE

Effective immediately - Marktech Optoelectronics production facility will be changing suppliers of the stem / header used in the manufacturing of the above devices. The current stem / header has been discontinued by the supplier and an alternate source has been obtained.

Marktech Optoelectronics believes that this change will not affect the majority of customers using this product. There will be no change to the current specification as the electrical, optical and mechanical performance will be similar, however, in some cases there may be minor variations that could affect specific customer applications.
