Dear Madam/Sir,

Thank you very much for your continuous patronage of Noritake VF Display products.
We would like to send you our proposal to change a supplier of printed circuit board, which is used on the display modules below, to minimize an adverse influence with long production lead time of the printed circuit board as follows;

Noritake Product Number

GE256X64C-7933B (Customer's P/N.: )
GE256X64C-7933B-01 (Customer's P/N.: )

The change Component : Supplier of Printed Circuit Board

| .Details | Present PC Board                                                                    | New PC Board                                                                          |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Maker    | RITA Electronics, Ltd.                                                              | P-ban.com                                                                             |
| UL Mark. |  |  |

Reason of this change : To reduce an impact on manufacturing and shipping schedule of our display module by long lead time of the present printed circuit board supplier, Rita Electronics, Ltd.

Technical Note : Dimensions and circuit pattern are the same between the present and the new suppliers. Reliability test has being undertaken for validation and the test result will be available by August 10, 2021.

Product Number and Data sheet : Same as present (No change)

Schedule of change : Please ask your sales representative

If you need additional information, please feel free to contact your sales person at your earliest convenience.

Best Regards,

Administration Department
